

The Two Psychological Assessment Tracks

When to use them and why

Psychological Assessment

The traditional Psychological Assessment Track is the track that is used in conjunction with the Candidacy Track. This should only be used by candidates for licensed or ordained ministry the first time they are completing their psychological assessment. If a candidate for licensed or ordained ministry needs to retake their psychological assessment, they should be assigned the Psychological Assessment Non-Trad/Retake track.

Psychological Assessment Non-Trad/Retake

This is the Psychological Assessment track which should be used for Non-traditional candidates and for those that must retake their assessments for various reasons. This is the track that should be used to request assessments for Certified Lay Ministers. This track includes a step to pay the administration fee, which covers the cost of the battery.
